Now listen one and all, all people gathering again, kneeling to give a prayer
Revered deity, path of divinity anew, clad in luminosity

There must be a way, a flame to light the dark
Finding a hope in our plight, forgotten days of old
Looking at our past, what has come at last
Time after time will come again

Through tangled spirals and layered dials, all that waits is remorse and sorrow
If healing can't be found scars will deepen, still hoping someday for liberation
No way to change our fate or doom for tomorrow
What is here today will crumble away, so hear the sound of twilight ending

Finding within your heart, desires torn apart to lose all resolution
Burning in dark dreams, beyond all extremes until incineration

Now see the flame, flickering red in the night
Lighting a hope in our plight, begotten days of fright

Repeating again, the same mistake never ends
It never fails, eternally

Repeated tragedies and misfortunes, all that waits is hollow oblivion
If voices can't be heard they're forgotten, whispering away like winds in a barren sky
Caught in denial, betraying presumption
What you know today will shatter away, so hear the sound of justice ending

New balance to share, equilibrium to find
Bringing reason to bear, let providence prevail
This leading path remains yet unseen, seemingly calm and deceiving how turbulent fate can be

Through tangled spirals and layered dials, all that waits is remorse and sorrow
If healing can't be found scars will deepen, still hoping someday for liberation
No way to change our fate or doom for tomorrow
What is here today will crumble away, so hear the sound of twilight ending

Ending Theme: Rebel of Destiny (English.ver)

Our fates revolving, but unresolving, a dissonance occurs
And voicing our ideologies that only are denied
As hearts that barely touch become sharp edges to be honed
Now pointing straight at each other

Arcana leads the mysterious path to
A secret power to be found
Turn away from this ring of fate
To betray eternity

So how much sorrow can this world hold
With overflowing tender feelings still untold
Love can be the answer you will need
For here we are in twilight, let there be light in this world

Try overwriting these contraindications from old
Desire or reason, or light or darkness, but only one prevails
A path of evil to depict a future drawn with power
Another day to foresee

So quietly, and so silently
The divinity strong and familiar waning
Leading to new destinies
And new fortunes to be wound

Drawn together now despite the pain
While still believing goodness will remain unchanged
Let this hope continue once again
For here we are in twilight, let there be light in this world

Arcana leads the mysterious path to
A secret power to be found
Turn away from this ring of fate
To betray eternity

So how much sorrow can this world hold
With overflowing tender feelings still untold
Love can be the answer you will need
For here we are in twilight, let there be light in this world

With love
And now with love
Love, with love
With love, with love

Brighter than the eye can see, invisible the dream
Tumbling into a new awakening you can't conceive
Piercing in your ear the unfamiliar melody of silence
In a fleeting moment all you feel is that your heart is beating

Never ending traps are waiting for you to be lost in fear
All you need to do is close your eyes to find yourself falling
Giving in to darkness can be comforting and self deceiving
Somewhere, someday in the shadows there may be a way to shine

Looking forward to a future far beyond
Those days left behind now forever

In my hand and in my heart, holding a flicker of hope
Wanting to burn away, with nothing left but ashes in the air
The story I thought that I knew, long gone
Flowers abloom will unfold, scattering in the sky
No more blue to be seen, with clouds casting shadows over you
So far far away is where I'm going to

Broken heart and broken soul, wandering throughout this world
Wondering why every sign has disappeared to show past glory
Nothing but a memory reminding you that all is vain
Happy recollection all replaced with tears and lost emotion

Hearing endless cries cutting through the air
This dream never awakening forever

In this world if you can find a single innocent prayer
All the sorrow adorned will shed light on the story
Now twisted beyond recognition now that
Flowers have withered away never to bloom again
Into darkness a song of love is ringing trying to reach you
So far far away is where I'm going

Finding yet another melody untold
This voice bringing another day forever

In my hand and in my heart, holding a flicker of hope
Wanting to burn away, with nothing left but ashes in the air
The story I thought that I knew, long gone
Flowers abloom will unfold, scattering in the sky
No more blue to be seen, with clouds casting shadows over you
So far far away is where I'm going to
